ABOUT US

Intercultural Association For All (IAFA) is a non-profit organization. It is mostly constituted by young people, who decided to invest their intellectual and creative capital in the service of the community.

It has important national and international partnerships with public and private entities and also with companies. Its team work has a strong presence of local, graduated and with master's degrees volunteers, who usually participate on Erasmus+ programs. IAFA's staff know European mobility and volunteering programs and are used to deal with all of the practical aspects, so they are ready for this challenge.

Its mission is to actively contribute to unemployment decrease and to promote Europe as an opportunity.

IAFA's main goal is to support local development, in order to raise its patterns to European levels. Intends to mobilize its resources, knowledge and skills to job's creation, vocational and civic training, in order to create equal opportunities for all.

IAFA's main activity is to promote different European programs, in the cultural, social and mobility sphere, in order to contribute to a more cohesive knowledge and closer to the European Union's different countries' realities.

It seeks to promote intercultural cooperation among people, approaching themes as human rights, equal opportunities and entrepreneurship, making aware of a major collective voluntary solidarity need and social inclusion.

The main commitment is to promote European mobility to people with different training and business areas and to those who want to inspire and learn with other European organizations.
